

INTERCHANGEABLE CONNECTION ARRAYS FOR DOUBLE-SIDED DIMM PLACEMENT

ABSTRACT

5 A memory module has an array of connections. The array of connections is arranged in rows and columns such that there are first and second outer columns. Connections in the first and second outer columns can be interchanged to optimize double-side module placement on a substrate.